AT A LOSS FOR AN EXPLANATION

Expert Electricians Can but Conjecture How Men Received Current that Nearly Killed

Cases All Serious

From the St. Francis hospital, comes the word this afternoon that all are far more seriously injured than at first suspected. Snyder, believed to be but slightly hurt, has suffered a sinking spell and is receiving constant attention. He was knocked unconscious, the wire hitting the top of his head. The results may be fatal. A ring on his finger acted as a conductor for the current and burned a circle to the bone. Paetzel, upon thorough examination, proved to be horribly injured and may lose his right leg and his left arm. Heaselgrave, whose right leg was badly burned, will recover providing poisoning does not result.

Two men were horribly burned and a third was knocked unconscious when 2,300 volts of electricity from the Hatfield waterpower plant shot through their bodies at 10:15 o'clock this morning.

The men were members of a Wisconsin Railway Light and Power company crew and were stringing new lines in the rear of the company's plant at Onalaska, six miles north of La Crosse.

Two were on the poles at the time the "cross over" came and a third was on the ground. Henry Paetzel, Winona, Minn., one of the polemen, was tied to the pole by his "safety" belt, and hung, a burning mass, in midair for several minutes. His flesh was burned to the bone in many places and his clothing was a mass of flames. With rare presence of mind he unhooked his belt and dropped forty feet to the ground. To this he owes his life.

The other pole man was carried down by the crew foreman, while the third, standing on the ground, was burned and knocked unconscious.

The injured: Henry Paetzel, aged 30, Plainview, Minn. Jack Heaselgrave, aged 26, Winona, Minn. John Snyder, aged 23, Winona, Minn.

Paetzel and Heaselgrave were on separate poles while Snyder was on the ground. They were stringing new wires back of the Onalaska plant. Heaselgrave, according to his own story, was on the arm of a pole directly back of the plant while Paetzel was working on the wire at a pole 150 feet south. Snyder was holding the end of the new wire, standing on the ground beneath Paetzel.

Without warning the current shot through their bodies. Heaselgrave managed to extricate himself from the tangle of wires and hung to the arm. Snyder, on the ground, was knocked unconscious. Paetzel, his safety belt hooked to a heavy wire to prevent his falling, was in direct contact with the wire carrying the current and hung in midair, a burning mass.

Heaselgrave was the first to recover and shouted for help. Foreman Frank Scott, who was employed in the plant, rushed outside and seeing Heaselgrave, immediately climbed the pole to carry him down.

"Let me go!" screamed Heaselgrave. "Get Paetzel. My God! He's burning up!"

In the confusion following the first cries for help Paetzel, his right leg burned to the bone and the deadly electricity still searing into his flesh, recovered his presence of mind and tried to extricate himself from his awful position. His left arm, through

TWIN CITIES FIGHT FOR BANK

St. Paul Plays Stockyards Against Mills of Minneapolis at the Hearing

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—St. Paul played her stock yards against the mills of Minneapolis today in an effort to convince Secretaries McAdoo and Houston of the organization committee, that if one of the regional reserve banks is located in the northwest, it should go to St. Paul.

The hearing in Chicago adjourned at 12:30 p. m. after several Indiana bankers had asked that Indiana be included within the Chicago district. E. M. Wing, La Crosse, Wis., banker, asked that La Crosse also be included within the Chicago district.

President John R. Mitchell of the St. Paul clearing house association, W. A. Magivey, president of the South St. Paul Stock Yards company, and a number of leading bankers, were ready to meet the arguments of the Minneapolis men, when they finished presenting their case today.

Both the St. Paul and Minneapolis suggestions protested against the suggestion by Chicago bankers yesterday that Minnesota and the entire northwest should be included within the Chicago reserve bank district. But having met on common ground at this point, the opposing delegations took dignified slaps at the rival cities.

Secretaries McAdoo and Houston conferred in private this afternoon with several Chicago bankers. They will leave tonight for St. Louis, where hearings will open at 10 a. m. tomorrow. From St. Louis they will go to Kansas City.

MESSAGE PUZZLES STREET

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Wall street did not know just how President Wilson's message should be taken today. Rush Turnkey and Rush the Prison Officers Shooting as They Come

M'ALESTER, Okla., Jan. 20.—Three prisoners, after overpowering their guards and taking their revolvers, shot their way out of the state penitentiary here late yesterday, killing four persons and wounding three others before they were finally rounded up by a posse and themselves killed.

J. Martin, turnkey, shot through the cheek; C. L. Wood, guard, shot in the arm, and Mary Foster, stenographer for Warden Dick, shot in the leg, are the wounded.

The dead: Judge J. R. Thomas, former congressman from Illinois; Assistant Deputy Warden Pat Oates, Day Sergeant Godfrey and Bertillon Expert Drover; China Reed, serving two years for larceny; Tom Lane, serving five years for forgery; Charlie Koonz, serving forty years for manslaughter.

Assaulting the turnkey whom they had told they wished to see the parole officer, the three "bad men," seized his keys and rushed the administration offices. Although they had but one revolver, the deadly aim of China Reed sent three prison officials and a visitor, whom they had mistaken for the warden, to their death.

Then shielding themselves with Mary Foster and Parole Clerk Dick they dashed to the prison gates and their short flight for liberty began. With the warden's rig they attempted to out-distance pursuing guards but their bodies were riddled with the high power rifles of the guards.

The prison is quiet today, but the 1,500 men, many of whom cheered on the escaping desperadoes, are sullen.

CATCH LUND AT MELROSE LATE MONDAY NIGHT

Farmhand Who Robbed Employer of Large Sum Rounded Up by Village Constable

PASSED PURSUERS ON THE ROAD

Doubled Back from North Bend in Buggy and Drives Aside to Permit Sheriff's Auto to Pass

MAN IS BROUGHT TO LA CROSSE

Robbery Committed in This County; the Prisoner Is Turned Over to La Crosse Authorities

John Lund, aged 21, who Sunday stole a large sum of cash from the home of his employer, Will Roberts, a farmer residing on Big Creek, near Bangor, was captured at Melrose, Wis., late last night after eluding officers for over 24 hours.

After the capture it developed that Lund had passed Deputy Sheriff George Mannel and Undersheriff George Boss on the road, having hired a rig at North Bend and "doubling back" over the same route he had taken.

The constable at Melrose recognized the robber when he drove up and, drawing a revolver, compelled him to throw up his hands and get out.

Lund complied and made no attempt to escape. It was learned that the sum taken by Lund did not exceed $200 and of this $186.50 was found on his person. The rest had gone for the rig with which he had doubled on his pursuers and had hoped to escape.

Lund, in his efforts to escape, covered twenty miles over rough roads Sunday night.

Posse Organized Yesterday morning a searching party was organized at Sparta consisting of Under-sheriff George Boss, Deputies George Mannel and Mose Roberts. They started in a large touring car to comb the surrounding country.

The searchers passed through Cataract and on to a roadside tavern known as Monkey's Roost. Here the first trace of the fugitive was found. Cane Brothers, farmers, maintained the man had passed their house at 11 o'clock last night.

The officers went on to Melrose, leaving descriptions behind and left Melrose for North Bend, a distance of two and one-half miles. There they received a telephone call from the constable at Melrose who maintained he had captured the robber.

Lund was immediately started for La Crosse, the crime having been committed in this county, and was taken from the Northwestern train this morning by Sheriff John Weber. He will be arraigned later.

Tells Of Ruse

After his capture Lund, a fair-haired and mild-mannered youth, laughingly told the officers how he had outwitted them and passed them on the road.

"I went to North Bend," he said, "secured a rig and started driving back. I met you fellows on the road but you were too busy looking for a fellow walking to pay attention to a man in a rig."

PACKED GALLERY HEARS PRESIDENT ASK LEGISLATION

Many Business Men Present Hear Wilson Call Guilt for Trust Illegality Personal

APPROVE PEACEFUL PROSPECTS

Little Applause Marks the Statement of President's Views but Legislators Nod Approval

LIKE PERSONAL GUILT PROPOSAL

Warmest Applause of Address Follows Statement that Individuals Are Responsible

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Wilson held out an olive branch to big business today. He outlined a "constitution of peace" for the industrial welfare of the country. Addressing a joint session of the senate and house, he appealed for clear and distinct anti-trust legislation which will restore competition in every line of industry and trade.

It was the fifth time the chief executive has taken his position as leader of the majority in congress. And today he asked that majority to add to the two paramount laws now on the statute books—the tariff and currency acts—another which will specifically designate just what a "criminal" combination in restraint of trade, actually is and provides specific criminal penalties for specific individual acts.

Should Punish "Higher Ups"

The burden of the entire message was that the guilt is personal and the "man higher up" and not the instrument, should be punished. Every seat in the quadrangle of galleries was filled five minutes after the doors were thrown open at 11 o'clock, with the exception of those in the executive and diplomatic reservation. The members of the immediate family of the president, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Eleanor Wilson and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, escorted by Dr. Cary N. Grayson, entered the gallery at 12:20.

For the first time since the president began delivering his message in person, there were fully as many men as women among the spectators. The importance of the utterance to the business world was indicated by the fact that among those who listened intently were many prominent eastern financiers.

It was exactly 12:30 when Speaker Clark's gavel fell and the president entered, escorted by Senators Kern, Bacon and Gallinger, and Representatives Underwood, Fitzgerald and Mann.

Greeted With Applause

As the familiar form, correctly garbed in a black frock coat and vest, and striped trousers, and carrying his manuscript closely clutched in his hand, stepped on the platform, he was received with a round of applause, which, starting on the floor, quickly spread to the galleries and was far and away the warmest that has yet marked the Wilson appearance at the capital.

When the president stated that the antagonism between business and government was at an end, several of the democratic leaders nodded in approval, but there was none of the hand-clapping which had punctuated the last address of the president. Even when the president insisted there must be an end to interlocking directorates, there was no applause, but a warm nodding of acquiescence from senators and representatives alike. The first applause was started by Republican Leader James R. Mann. As the president emphatically asserted that the people of the country were ready to welcome a law which would give the interstate commerce commission control over the financial policy of the railroad system, the Illinois representative clapped his hands warmly and his example was immediately followed by democrats and republicans alike.

There was a noticeable wait of about twenty seconds by the president after he launched his suggestion that an interstate trade advisory commission be created but apparently the audience did not catch the cue as the point was passed over in silence.

Applaud Personal Guilt Idea

The warmest applause since the start greeted the president's statement that:

"Penalties and punishments should fall, not upon business itself, but upon the individuals who use the instrumentalities of business to do such things which public policy condemns."

The various legislative subjects outlined by the president were referred to the proper house committees, being divided between judiciary and interstate commerce.

Judge Decides That It Is Impossible for Physicians to Make Tests Required at the Price Set

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 20.—Handing down a decision in the case of A. A. Peterson, the first person in Wisconsin to be denied a license without a health certificate under the provisions of the eugenic marriage law, Circuit Judge Eschweiler today held the law to be discriminatory and illegal.

The court held that in effect the law demanded an act on the part of physicians which could not be carried into effect for the maximum price fee fixed by the act, and that the law was contrary to public policy. He issued an order commanding the clerk of the court to grant licenses even when the applicant is unable to show the certificate required in the statute.

The opinion, in part, follows: "In view of the limited number of physicians in this state who can make the laboratory tests designated by law and of the unreasonable statutory limitations of the physicians' fee to no more than three dollars, that the act in question is an unreasonable and material impairment of the unalienable right of the fit and proper to enter into the marriage state, and that it is violative of the rights secured by our constitution and therefore void and no defense to the defendant (County Clerk Widule) in his refusal to grant the petitioner a marriage license."

The decision was rendered in the action of a mandamus in the case brought against county clerk of Widule by A. A. Peterson, who applied for a license without a health certificate January 2 and was refused. Peterson and his attorney visited a number of doctors here and all refused to make the test designated in the law for the prescribed fee of $3. The case will be appealed to the state supreme court immediately and pending its final decision there the law will not be in effect.

SAYS IN MESSAGE HE WOULD MAKE GUILT PERSONAL

Suggests that Stock Owners Be Compelled to Elect Corporation in Which to Direct Affairs

IS OUT FOR TRADE COMMISSION

Says Public Opinion Is in Favor of Board for Advising Corporations on the Law

WOULD ADD TO SHERMAN MEASURE

Statutes Defining Exactly Scope of Activities Considered Legal Urged Upon Congress

President Wilson on the Trusts Legislation is a business of interpretation, not of origination.

Big business men, after denying existence of monopoly, now admit its existence. The average business man is convinced that ways of liberty are ways of peace and success as well. Our object is not to unsettle business or seriously break its established courses.

We desire the new laws to be bulwarks of industry against the forces that have disturbed it.

Business waits for laws which will effectually prevent and prohibit interlocking of personnel of directorates of great corporations.

This prohibition will bring new men, new energies, a spirit of initiative, new blood into the management of great enterprises.

The country wants a law permitting the interstate commerce commission to superintend and regulate financial operations to supply the railroads with money for operations, etc.

Illegal monopolistic practices should be explicitly and item by item forbidden in specific terms.

Business men need the guidance and information which can be supplied by an interstate trade commission.

Penalties and punishments should fall on individuals, not upon the business itself.

Business men want personal guilt fixed.

Shall private owners of capital stock be suffered to be in themselves holding companies?

We are now about to write the additional articles in our constitution of peace, the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The interlocking of the personnel of the directorates of great corporations, banks, railroads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies, is the crux of the trust system, in the opinion of President Wilson. He made this plain today in his long promised address to congress, discussing needed anti-trust legislation. And in discussing the evils which have resulted from such interlocking, the president caustically attacked that group of millionaires who in themselves, by reason of the enormous holdings of stock in numerous corporations, constitute virtual monopolies.

For Personal Guilt

The president emphatically approved the making of guilt personal in suits against the trusts.

"Every act of business is done at the command or upon initiative of some ascertainable person or group of persons," he said. "These should be held individually responsible and the punishment should fall upon them, not upon business organization of which they make illegal use."

The president practically told congress it should decide whether big owners of stock in corporations should be compelled to elect in which one of them they will exercise their right to vote on the conduct of its affairs.

While only suggesting an outline of legislation which he believes most needed, the president was emphatic in his declaration for the creation of an industrial commission. He declared that public opinion has finally conquered big business, so that the average business man is now convinced "that the ways of liberty

How to Make the Best Cough Remedy at Home
A Family Supply at Small Cost, and Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and 1/2 pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, bronchial asthma, whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

This method of making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is now used in more homes than any other cough syrup. This explains why it is often imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacal and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

SHOOTING A MAN

BY JOHN PHILIP ORTH

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
Miss Blythe the Milward was taking a walk in the park at an early morning hour.

Her brother George had told her that if she would get out early she would find the squirrels hunting for their breakfast.

If she went around by the Zoo she would find the hippopotamus jumping through paper hoops and playing a mouth organ—a thing he never did after the hour of 9 o'clock.

A hippopotamus has his hours for play and his hours of dignity, the same as a United States senator, and when he's off his dignity he's a very interesting animal.

Miss Blythe saw the squirrels. She saw the hippo. Incidentally, she saw the kangaroo and the giraffe, but they were side issues.

Someone also saw Miss Blythe. He wasn't an animal, but a human being. He was a young man under 30, and he had a smile and a smirk. He also had a moustache and wore a bogus diamond ring.

He might have been in the park to see the squirrels and the hip. He was sauntering about and flourishing his cane and pulling at his moustache, when his eyes lit on the girl. He removed his hat with a great flourish. He smiled. He smirked. He observed that it was a fine morning for a walk.

For a moment Miss Blythe looked at him in astonishment. It was her first meeting with a masquer. Then the identity of the creature slowly dawned upon her and she drew herself up and indignantly exclaimed: "Sir, pass on about your business!"

"Ah! See you again," he smirked as he passed.

"What's the matter with the kid?" asked Miss Blythe's brother George, as she reached home with tears in her eyes.

Brother George was thirteen years old, and he really hoped that something had happened to call for a display of chivalry on his part.

"Man—in the park!" sobbed the sister.

"Wild man?"

"No—tame!"

"What did he do?"

"S-spoke to me!"

"And what were you doing?"

"Looking at the squirrels."

"And didn't you blast his eyes?"

"Yes."

"And you told him to go on about his business?"

"Yes."

"And he went?"

"If he hadn't I was going to call for help."

"I'm glad you didn't have to," sagely replied the brother. "Sister, never call for outside help if you can avoid it. If you do they will get your name and your picture in the papers, and a great lot of stuff about your fighting to the last gasp and all of that. They will also want to know what sort of a cowboy I am not to be around when wanted."

"But what shall I do if I meet him again?"

"Tonight I shall hand you my revolver. It won't be loaded; but when you go to the park in the morning, you carry it with you."

"And it won't go off?" asked the sister with a shudder.

"How can it? You want it simply to menace the man, if he shows up again. As soon as he begins bowing and smirking you want to pull your gun on him and say:

"Out of this with you, base wretch, or you are a dead man!"

"But he may laugh at me."

"No danger of that, if you speak in a stern voice. The sight of a gun gives such scoundrels the quake every time. There's hardly a day passes, sister, that I don't make some desperado take to his heels by drawing a gun and looking at him. You just try it once. Money back if it don't work."

When Miss Blythe went to the park next morning she had the "gun" along with her, but she didn't mean to menace anybody with it if she could avoid it. She therefore took another path. If that masquer was on the watch he would be fooled. When she had reached a spot half a mile from the encounter of the day previous she sat down on a bench and lost herself in watching the robins.

"Ah, there, good morning!" It was the masquer come back! He hadn't been fooled!

"Beautiful morning?"

No reply.

"Beautiful park?"

No reply.

"What a happy bird the robin is!"

Miss Blythe was now looking him squarely in the eyes.

"Would that I were a robin to be looked at by a beautiful young lady."

"You loofer you, how dare you speak to me again!"

"Call me not thus, fair one. I admit that I admire, but it is with all due respect."

Miss Blythe rose to her feet and out came the revolver!

George said that it wouldn't be loaded but it was to be used only to menace with.

However, it turned out to be another of those frequent cases of "didn't know it was loaded."

Up came the weapon on a line with the masquer's right eye. The girl didn't know the trigger from the muzzle. It can't be recalled to this day that anything was done beyond wobbling the weapon about, but all of a sudden there was an explosion.

A bullet then meant for anybody

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. For sale and recommended by O. T. Erhart.

took a piece out of the masquer's right ear and then went singing away into the brush. The masquer yelled out. He jumped clear of the ground. He clapped a hand to the bleeding ear, and shouted "murder!" at the top of his voice. He struck a jack rabbit gait and was soon out of sight.

"What have I done! Oh, what have I done!" wailed the girl as she dropped back on the bench and covered her face with her hands, having dropped the revolver as soon as the shot was fired.

There was no one nearby. No one came running. After giving herself two or three minutes to recover from the shock, Miss Blythe started for home at a fast walk.

The evening papers of that date had a column article under four or five scare heads, the largest and blackest of which was:

"Attempted Murder in the Park!"

And then the article related that as Guy Osborne, son of the insurance man by that name, was sitting in the park at an early morning hour, smoking his cigar (not a nickel one), and reading his paper, a bullet, fired by a would-be assassin from the underbrush, at his faithful heart, had hit him in the calf of the right leg.

The assassin had been concealed there for half an hour, probably. He certainly meant murder. No suspicious person was seen by the park police, but a general alarm had been sent out to collar every man in the city with a Roman nose.

Brother George had been told about the masquer, and he was highly exultant. When he saw the papers, however, he sobered up and said: "Sister, you will have to hit the high spots."

"What does that mean?" she asked.

"You will have to seek the woods and camp out until this thing blows over."

"Dunno, unless you tell mother you are dying of consumption and must have an outdoor life for awhile."

Poor Miss Blythe. She wept and she tried to plan. Brother George had ceased to be a consolation. In fact, she showed a disposition to skip the country. All that needed to be done was to keep quiet, as no one had seen the shooting, but the shooter felt that every finger in the city was pointing at her as the guilty one. She bore up under it for two days, and then without a word to any one she set out for the residence of the wounded man's father.

Mr. Guy Osborne was sitting up, with a support for the wounded leg. A neat hole bored through the calf

Weak Lungs Often Lead to Serious Illness

If you have weak lungs, you are generally subject to colds or throat trouble and easily susceptible to serious Lung Trouble. In many cases pneumonia or bronchial troubles leave the Lungs in a much weakened condition. Eckman's Alternative is a medicine for the throat and lungs which has been found to be very beneficial, even when a change of climate and other treatments failed to bring relief. Read of this case:—231 S. Atlantic Ave., Haddonfield, N. J.

"Gentlemen: In the fall of 1905 I contracted a very severe cold which settled on my lungs. At last I began to raise sputum, and my physician then told me I must go to California immediately. At this time I was advised to take Eckman's Alternative. I stayed at home and commenced taking it the last week in October. I began to improve, and the first week in January, 1906, I resumed my regular occupation, having gained 25 pounds, fully restored to health. It is now seven years since my recovery has been effected, and I cannot praise Eckman's Alternative too highly."

would not trouble him for long. The guilty and conscience stricken girl was admitted to his presence.

"It was I that shot you as you sat in the park!"

"How—what?" he asked.

"With my little revolver. I did it, and you may send me to prison!"

Did Guy Osborne send her there? He didn't. He just fell in love with the shooter, as was ordained he should, and if it doesn't end in matrimony before huckleberries come again, then Mrs. Grundy and lots of other folks will turn out false prophets.

SPARTA, WIS.

Attorney Z. S. Rice was in La Crosse yesterday and Saturday, where he procured divorces for two parties in Judge Higbee's court. Luellen Hall was granted a divorce from Cortes Hall. Desertion was the ground given. Hall deserted his wife with three babies two years ago, and was never heard from since. It is said he feared arrest for misappropriation of money placed in his hands by the creamery company. On Saturday Josie Pomeroy was granted a divorce from William Pomeroy.

Value of Cocose as Butter.
Cocose is the name of a French product manufactured from copra, probably with the addition of small quantities of other substances, which is gaining great popularity among Mohammedans and Hindus for use as a butter. Its peculiar recommendation, as compared with other butter substitutes, is that it contains no trace of hog fat or beef tallow, and hence does no violence to religious ideas.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — Peter's Trip With the Man In the Moon.

"THERE was once," said daddy, "a little boy named Peter who had always longed to see the man in the moon. Every night when there was a full moon he would sit at his window and look at the funny, jolly face of the old man until he became so sleepy he would have to go to bed."

"One night he sat watching so long that he fell sound asleep by the window. It was not long before he saw the strangest thing. The moon seemed to be growing larger and larger, and soon it was back of a tree near his window. He could see quite plainly the jolly old face of his beloved man in the moon looking jollier and fatter than ever. The old man grinned from ear to ear at Peter, and in a moment or two he spoke.

"Well, Peter, here I am. Now how do you like me? And as he spoke he chuckled and laughed.

"Oh, I think you're wonderful!" said Peter, with wild enthusiasm and joy. "So you think I'm wonderful, do you? Ha, ha! Well, that is a joke! But there certainly isn't any one else just like me, that's true enough. So maybe I'm wonderful because I'm so queer. What about that?"

"Oh, no," said Peter, "you're wonderful because you're so fat and jolly and because you're always laughing and seeming to have a good time."

"At that the old man in the moon laughed some more and said: 'Well, you're a funny little chap too. All folks don't think it's such a compliment to be fat, but I do. It's the way I am, you see, and it's best to be satisfied with the way you are, isn't it? If you really like me then I'll take you off in my chariot of mist to visit the stars, and you'll call on all the bright queens of the stars, who sparkle so you can see them from down on the earth.'

"So off went Peter with the man in the moon for the most gorgeous trip all the little elves and brownies. And then the man in the moon showed Peter where in the sky he stayed and how he moved every week so that all the little boys and girls in the world could see a full moon every month. And Peter could see down below all the wee little houses (they looked so small from where Peter was) and the earth, which looked very funny and small, too, from up in the moon. Peter felt a little afraid at first that he'd fall, but as he'd never heard of the man in the moon having a tumble to earth he felt comforted. Alas, all too soon the journey had to end, for Peter heard the distant sound of a breakfast bell.

"As he yawned he realized he'd been sleeping all night by the window. But, oh, such a gorgeous sleep as it had been!"

A RATIFICATION
GRAND JURY

At Houghton, Michigan, a grand jury has indicted President Moyer and thirty-eight other officials of the Western Federation of Miners on charges of conspiracy and other offenses in connection with the Calumet strike.

Nine members of the grand jury
were members of the Citizens' alliance that is pledged to drive the federation out of Michigan, and members of which participated in the shooting of Moyer in the back and his violent deportation without authority of law.

We have no brief for Moyer, but how would you like to be "tried by your peers" when those "peers" had previously sworn to "get you" and belonged to an organization members
of which had shot you in the back?

Only last week an agent for the United States department of commerce, following an investigation at Calumet, reported to the government that violence and lawlessness had been practiced by the mine owners,
but that he could find no evidence of lawlessness on the part of the miners.

One of the indictments reads, for
"conspiracy to restrain laborers
from going to work."

This government agent's report says that the mine owners "imported strike breakers under misrepresentations," and that when upon their arrival these men learned the nature of their work and refused to act as strike breakers, the mine owners "compelled them to enter the mines and work at the point of the pistol."

No doubt the officers of the Western Federation of Labor are familiar with the procedure known as "a change of venue."

LAW'S MAY HELP
BUT CAN'T DETERMINE

A thought that has significance in La Crosse at this time comes to us
from a foreign pen.

This is for you, Fathers and mothers:

Colliers—"We are going to end
the commercialization of sex by taking whatever repressive measures are necessary, but speculation in it will always be a matter for the wisdom or folly of those immediately concerned. Girls and boys and parents will be responsible to the end of the chapter."

Probably the managers of the Panama exposition will now throw up their hands in despair. Mexico has decided not to exhibit.

Richmond, Pa.—"When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown
state of health,
had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed.
As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my

feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning,
and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad,
I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Veg-

SPOTLIGHTS

"BOUGHT AND PAID FOR"

William A. Brady's production of George Broadhurst's "Bought and Paid For," which is the biggest sensation of our time and the reigning success of two continents, makes its appearance at the La Crosse Theater Saturday, January 24, matinee and night. The play concerns a telephone girl who marries a millionaire whom she does not really love. She respects him, incidentally her marrying makes things easier for her sister and brother-in-law and their baby. The respect is soon shattered
when the wife discovers that her husband is a drunkard. Under these conditions he is an unspeakable
brute, and the extent of his brutality
is very clearly and disagreeably shown in the second act, when he returns home in a maudlin condition, and resenting his wife's repug-
nance for him, in that condition, beats her. Then he breaks down the door of the room in which she has locked herself. In the third act she begs him to reform and threatens to leave him unless he promises to do so. He refuses and the wife, handing back the jewels and the wedding ring, starts out in the cold world. The curtain falls on the husband ringing up a detective agency.
"No, no," he says irritably, "I want you to protect some one."

The last act shows her living in humble circumstances with her equally reduced sister and brother-in-law. She is only a poor shop girl now, working for $7 a week, and hanging on a strap in the subway twice daily. The brother-in-law conceives an idea to bring them together. He succeeds. They really love
each other, and all is forgiven.

ious takes a long, long time to make the pot boil!"

HOW I MADE
MY HAIR GROW

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful
Hair Gives Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advised hair preparations and various prescriptions, but they all signally failed; many of them made my hair greasy so it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I think that many of the things I tried were positively injurious and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures,
I finally found a simple prescription
which I can unhesitatingly state is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen.
Many of my friends have also used
it, and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair and for restoring gray hair to its natural color, but it is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp
in first-class condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and arrange in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it has not only stopped the falling of his hair and wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all of his hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The prescription is as follows:

Bay Rum, 6 oz.; Menthol Crystals,
1/2 drachm; Lavona de Composee,
2 oz. If you like it perfumed add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This, however, is not necessary. Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp.

Miss Belle De Costa Green, the $10,000 librarian of the Morgan collection, was talking about her campaign in behalf of her underpaid sister librarians.

"Women are to blame in a way,"
she said, "for the underpayment that prevails among them. They must change their attitude."

"Women in the past pretended to be helpless and clinging in order to flatter man."

"Woman thought that, by allowing man to look down on her, he would look up to her."—New York Press.

City Editor (in his everyday voice):
—I have some work here, McAddis-ter, when you are quite through talking to yourself. That telephone has been disconnected since morning.—Puck.

Two Points of View.

"American women spend more money
on clothes today than they ever spent
—and very much more than they should
spend in many cases," said a Fifth avenue modiste. "A $200 dress worn
by the wife of a man whose income is,
say, $100 a week, looks unbecoming and extravagant. One of my customers, wearing for the first time an imported robe trimmed with skunk, said
to her husband, with whom she was
walking:

"How people stare at my new dress!
I suppose they wonder if I've been
shopping in Paris."

"More likely," her husband replied
sourly, "they wonder if I've been embezzling."—New York Tribune.

Easily Explained.

"How is it your daughters have never learned to cook?"

"Well, I'll tell you. My daughters
have always been so busy with the problems of the working girl, settlement house matters and the like that
they have never had time for such
academic matters as learning to cook."

Two Points of View.

"American women spend more money
on clothes today than they ever spent
—and very much more than they should
spend in many cases," said a Fifth
avenue modiste. "A $200 dress worn
by the wife of a man whose income is,
say, $100 a week, looks unbecom-
ing and extravagant. One of my customers, wearing for the first time an imported robe trimmed with skunk, said
to her husband, with whom she was
walking:

"How people stare at my new dress!
I suppose they wonder if I've been
shopping in Paris."

"More likely," her husband replied
sourly, "they wonder if I've been em-
bezzling."—New York Tribune.

Easily Explained.

"How is it your daughters have never learned to cook?"

"Well, I'll tell you. My daughters
have always been so busy with the
problems of the working girl, settlement house matters and the like that
they have never had time for such
academic matters as learning to cook."

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Seven Keys
To Baldpate

"Yes, really. I won't ask you to believe—but I'm telling the truth. I went to the place where I had fatuously hid the money—under a brick of my fireplace. It was gone."

"How terribly unfortunate."

"Yes, isn't it?" Mr. Magee rejoiced that she took so calm a view of it. "They searched the room, of course. And they found the money.
They're on top now. But I'm going—"

He stopped. For he had seen her face. She—taking a calm view of it?
No, indeed. Billy Magee saw that she was furiously, wildly angry. He remembered always having written it down that beautiful women were even more beautiful in anger. How,
he wondered, had he fallen into that error?

"Please do not bore me," she said through her teeth, "with any further recital of what you 'are going' to do. You seem to have a fatal facility in that line. You: record of accomplishment is pathetically weak. And—oh, what a fool I've been! I believed. Even after last night, I believed."

No, she was not going to cry.
Hers was no mood for tears. What said the librettist? "There is beauty
in the roaring of the gale, and the tiger when a-lashing of his tail." Such was the beauty of a woman in anger. And nothing to get enthusiastic about, thought Mr. Magee.

"I know," he said helplessly.
"You're terribly disappointed. And I don't blame you. But you will find out that you've done me an injustice. I'm going—"

"One thing," said she, smiling a smile that could have cut glass.
"You are going to do. I know that you won't fail this time, because I shall personally see you through with it. You're going to stop making a fool of me."

"Tell me," pleaded Billy Magee.
"Tell me who you are—what this is all about. Can't you see I'm working in the dark? You must—"

She threw open the card-room door.

"An English officer," she remarked loudly, stepping out into the other room, "taught the admiral the game. At least, so he said.
It added so much romance to it in the eyes of the rocking-chair fleet.
Can't you see—India—the hot sun—
the Kipling local color—a silent, tanned, handsome man eternally planning solitaire on the porch of the barracks? Has the barracks a porch?"

Roused, humiliated, baffled, Mr.
Magee felt his cheeks burn.

"We shall see what we shall see,"
he muttered.

"Why coin the inevitable into a bromide?" she asked.

Mr. Magee joined the group by the fire. Never before in his life had he been so determined on anything
as he was now that the package of money should return to his keeping.
But how? How trace through this maze of humans the present holder
of that precious bundle of collater? He looked at Mr. Max, sneering his lemon-colored snout at the major's side; at the mayor himself, nonchalant as the admiral being photographed; at Bland, author of the Arabella fiction, sprawling at ease before the fire; at the tawdry
Mrs. Norton, and at Myra Thornhill, who had by her pleading the night before made him ridiculous.
Who of these had the money now?
Who but Cargan and Max, their face serene, their eyes eagerly on the preparations for lunch, their plans for leaving Baldpate Inn no doubt already made.

And then Mr. Magee saw coming down the stairs another figure—one
he had forgot—Professor Thaddeus Bolton, he of the mysterious dialogue
by the annex door. On the professor's forehead was a surprising red scratch, and his eyes, no longer hidden by the double convex lenses,
stood revealed a washed-out gray
in the light of moon.

"A most unfortunate accident,"
explained the old man. "Most distressing. I have broken my glasses.
I am almost blind without them."

"How'd it happen, Doc?" asked
Mr. C

WEDS DUKE THIRTY YEARS HER JUNIOR

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—"An ideal marriage," was the pronouncement of society today on the wedding of Duke Don Arturo De Bado Durrizzo of Italy, and Miss Elizabeth Frances Hanan, sister of Millionaire John

H. Hanan, announced today for February 17. The duke is 24 years old. Miss Hanan is 30 years his senior.

NEW DISCOVERY QUICKLY ENDS KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLE

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses Are Taken

If you are bothered with backache or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon, no matter what else may have failed to cure you.

It is a positive fact that the new discovery, Croxone, promptly overcomes such diseases. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for ridding the system of uric acid, removing the cause and curing the troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood.

It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder; and puts the kidneys and urinary organs in a clean, strong, healthy condition.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate long standing cases, while it cures the most annoying forms of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism in a surprisingly short time.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Advantages of Athletics. Business principles and self-reliance can be learned in no better way than by actual management of the financial and traveling affairs of athletic organizations. It is the only way open to the college man for acquiring such experience and avoiding the often-heard criticism of college graduates that they don't know how to take care of themselves. They will not learn it by being kept in leading strings nor by being continually taken care of.

CURED TERRIBLE HUMOR ON FACE

Could Not Go On Street Without Veil Tells What Resinol Did For Her.

Philadelphia, Dec. 6, 1912.—"In December 1908, my face became sore. I tried everything that was recommended, and my face got worse instead of better. I spent over $100 and got no benefit. The face and nose were very red and the eruption had the appearance of small boils, which irritated me terribly. I cannot tell you how terrible my face looked—all I can say is, it was dreadful, and I suffered beyond description.

"I have not gone on the street any time since 1908 without a veil, until now. Just four months ago a friend persuaded me to give Resinol a trial. I have used three cakes of Resinol Soap and less than a jar of Resinol Ointment, and my face is perfectly free from any eruption, and my skin is as clear and clean as any child's." (Signed) Mrs. M. J. Bateman, 4266 Viola St.

Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, but if you have any skin trouble it will cost you nothing to try them. Send to Dept. 14-M, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a free sample of each.

BILL MAY BRING DEMOCRATIC SPLIT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A situation which contained possibilities for a break between house democrats and the president developed today from provisions in the postoffice appropriation bill removing 24,000 assistant postmasters from the civil service and appropriating $25,000,000 for rural post roads. President Wilson has intimated he will veto such a bill.

Noted Collections of Jewels.

The Jam of Jamnagar, the Gaekwar of Baroda, the Nawab of Rampur and the Sultan of Turkey are other Oriental rulers whose collections of pearls have been noted. Be Generous.

In your dealings with other people try to put their good qualities and kindly acts in your account of them, and if quarrels arise or the gradual drifting apart comes that often cuts us off from one another without our conscious volition, let there always be some pleasant thought that will remain to the last, with us, when the other is far away from sight and sound.—Exchange.

On a Business Visit.

Mrs. R. was in the habit of giving little Robert an orange whenever he went home from her house. Another little boy named Edward found this out, and one day when he happened to be over there, he said, "When is it that you give Robert an orange, when he comes or when he goes?" Mrs. R. told him she gave it to him when he goes, so Edward said, "Guess I'll go now."

Word to Husbands.

GALESBURG, Ill., Jan. 20.—Julia Flake, the pretty 15 year old school girl, who confessed her part in the pact that resulted in the slaying of her mother, Mrs. Robert Flake Higgins, was taken to Alton today and placed in custody of a probation officer. She probably will escape prosecution.

The confession of her step-father, Robert Higgins, that he shot the girl's mother because of his infatuation for Julia, brought no display of emotion from the girl. Higgins appeared greatly relieved today and told the state's attorney he was glad the story was off his mind.

For 25 cents you can make your hair lustrous, fluffy, and abundant.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

DENIES RUMORS

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Veiled insinuations that certain federal officials had borrowed money from Sol Lewinsohn, professional bondsman, who disappeared after his bank was closed, and that these loans may have had something to do with the escape from federal jurisdiction of Jack Johnson, negro fighter, caused District Attorney Wilkerson to issue a brief statement today.

Wilkerson declared all the papers left by Lewinsohn are in his possession and that a careful investigation convinced him that nothing improper was connected with any of the loans made to federal officers.

CONGRESSMAN AND LAWYER IN FIGHT

Kentucky Representative Calls for His Pistol During Mix-up in Committee Room

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky and John R. Shields, local attorney, engaged in a fight today in the house District of Columbia committee room. Faces of both men were cut and badly bruised. Johnson called for his pistol, but a dozen members and clerks separated the combatants. About a dozen blows were exchanged.

Shields was knocked down once in a general melee when various members were trying to separate the men. The office was suddenly emptied when Johnson, who is chairman of the district committee, broke away and is said to have shouted: "Get my pistol; I'll kill the fellow."

The fight resulted from bitter feeling over an effort by Shields to have a bill giving firemen and policemen the right to ride free on street cars reported by the committee. Shields was charged by Johnson with being the "lobbyist" for the firemen and policemen.

which the 2,300 volts passed, was powerless, stiff as cordwood. With all his remaining strength he reached to the right and unsnapped his "safety" belt and dropped to the ground, forty feet below.

The injured men were immediately rushed to the hotel in Onalaska and calls sent to La Crosse for aid. At first it was thought Snyder, who was knocked unconscious and later found to be the least injured, was dead and the police pulmotor was asked for.

The police immediately got the call and Philip Linker, chief electrician for the La Crosse Gas and Electric company, was sent for. He was on the jury in circuit court but an appeal to Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee resulted in his being excused.

Make Flying Trip
Police Chief John Webber, Mr. Linker, Dr. G. J. Egan and a representative of The Tribune started in the police auto for the scene.

The trip to Onalaska in the auto was in itself thrilling, the auto just grazing a Burlington train at the La Crosse river crossing by a few inches. The auto was forced to make a wide detour on the north side, owing to blocking of the Mill street crossing but landed in Onalaska and at the side of the injured just nine minutes from the time it left the police station, Fifth and State streets.

Dr. W. A. Lester, Onalaska, was already working over the men and citizens, under his direction, were working the arms and legs of the injured.

Snyder Recovers
A few minutes later Snyder, the man who was on the ground when the current shot through the men, regained consciousness. A superficial examination showed him to be but slightly injured and the attention of Dr. Egan was then directed to Paetzl, who was horribly burned. Dr. R. T. Case, La Crosse, chanced to be in Onalaska and assisted in the work of easing the pain of the injured men.

Paetzl's left arm was badly burned and as a result is still stiff from the elbow down. He may lose it, say the doctors. His right thigh was in direct contact with the heavy voltage wire and the flesh, for a large area, is burned completely away, exposing the bone. His hands were burned in like manner.

Heasselgrave's right leg is burned to the bone, his hands were horribly cut by the hot fluid and his head injured.

Hard to Explain
Frank Scott, foreman of the crew, is at a loss for an explanation of the accident. All of the lines were dead with the exception of two carrying the 2,300 volts.

It is believed, however, that Paetzl accidentally came in contact with one of these with his left arm, creating the circuit which sent the liquid fire surging through the bodies of himself and fellow workers.

City Needs Ambulance
The Onalaska accident is one of the best illustrations of the need of an auto ambulance in La Crosse. The present police car, with many obstacles to delay its course, made the trip from the La Crosse police station to Onalaska in nine minutes.

Immediately after arriving Police Chief John Webber called for an ambulance. Its continued failure to appear prompted a second call. S. L. Meister announced that it had left his livery two minutes after the first call. It did not appear in Onalaska until fully an hour and a quarter after the call.

In the meantime two of the injured were suffering intensely and were in great need of hospital attention.

Villa Closes In on Torreón and Huerta Would Take the Field Himself

HIS CABINET REFUSES SANCTION

Will Not Give Consent to Dictator's Taking the Command of the Federals

(By United Press Correspondent)
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—One million dollars worth of cotton and cotton warehouses will fall into the hands of the rebels if Gen. Pancho Villa captures Torreón. The victorious constitutionalist chieftain today was reported to be advancing on Torreón, and that is considered the principal reason why General Huerta wanted to take the field in person.

Huerta Drops Plan
Huerta is said to have abandoned his plan, at least for the present, after a cabinet meeting which lasted until after midnight today. The ministers unanimously refused to approve Huerta's proposal to lead the federal army against the rebels.

A rumor that Huerta planned to resign and turn over the reins of government to a commission of five men was refuted today by all of the five. The men mentioned were visited personally and characterized the story as absurd.

Archbishop Mora brought about the release from prison of Senator Somellera, national chairman of the Catholic party, and Senator Zepeda. The archbishop visited Huerta in behalf of the men and the dictator ordered their release.

Business men today said they had reason to believe that Huerta will levy a five per cent tax on all land.

VERA CRUZ, Jan. 20.—John Lind and Jesus Flores today awaited communications from their respective chiefs, President Wilson and General Huerta, before resuming their conference here.

It was reported here that Huerta's chief request is that President Wilson's concern that Huerta, if he resigns, shall be an eligible candidate at the next election.

Pen Up Refugees

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 20.—The 4,300 refugees from Ojinaga, Mexico, who fled across the Rio Grande ten days ago when the constitutionalists captured that city, arrived here early today on special trains from Marfa, Texas. The trains were run to the Fort Bliss reservation where the Mexican federal soldiers and civilians were placed in tents within a barbed wire enclosure guarded by four companies of United States infantry and several troops of cavalry. There they will be held prisoners until the Mexican rebellion is over.

HUNT IN VAIN HOPE FOR SUNKEN DIVER

HONOR PAIR WHOSE DEATH THEY FORCED

CORTLAND, Ill., Jan. 20.—Confessing that their criticism caused John Aldis and his 16 year old bride to end their lives by poison, nearly the entire population of this little village will turn out at a public funeral tomorrow. The two caskets were heaped with beautiful flowers today. Two months ago Aldis married his niece. They protested that they loved each other, but the villagers threatened use of tar and feathers unless they left town. Aldis was refused work. His money gave out and with the last fifty cents he had he purchased a bottle of poison.

The Pains of Sciatica

Dr. E. C. Underwood says that there is no expression of neuralgia which is more distressing than that known as Sciatica. The cause of this condition is usually exposure to cold and dampness. One of the most common causes is rheumatism; indeed this is so often the cause that some writers include sciatica among the varieties of rheumatism.

The treatment includes remedies to counteract the cause of the disease, as well as measures looking to the relief of pain. Whatever treatment may be employed, two things must be borne in mind—the patient must be kept as free from pain as possible and be kept as quiet as possible. One or two Anti-Kamnia Tablets should be given every two or three hours, and the patient must be warned against going out in inclement weather.

Anti-Kamnia Tablets may be obtained at all druggists in any quantity, 10c worth or more. Ask for A-K Tablets.

In Headaches, Neuralgias, and all Pains, they give prompt relief.

P. S. Have you Eczema? Use A-K Salve.

UNION OFFICIAL IS ROBBED ON TRAIN

Reports of Strike Situation Taken by Bandit Who Awakens Man in Berth

CLAIMS HE WAS PRIVATE SLEUTH

Strikers' Leader Says He Recognized Man as Active for the Operators

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 20.—Posses in charge of state and miners' union officials today were scouring the hills around Clarksburg, W. Va., in an effort to locate the man who held up and robbed James Rodda, miners' union official, of valuable papers, on a Baltimore & Ohio Pullman, last night.

The hold-up man whom Rodda says he identified as a private detective employed by mine operators, is thought to have escaped to the mountains.

Rodda, on his way to Indianapolis, to submit valuable reports of the strike situation in this state to the miners' annual convention, was awakened in his berth just as the train was nearing Clarksburg.

A man was bending over him with a revolver pressed to his head. "Don't move; and give me all those reports," the man demanded, Rodda says.

The robbery awakened some of the other passengers. Rodda, unarmed, turned over the papers and his money. Then the robber turned to the porter and ordered him to stop the train and let him off.

The porter obeyed, just as Rodda aroused the other passengers by his shouts.

Hold Alleged Dynamiters

CALUMET, Mich., Jan. 20.—Eleven of twelve men arrested shortly after midnight this morning on suspicion, following the discovery of a box containing 200 dynamite fuses in a South Shore baggage car, were released today for lack of evidence against them. The twelfth, a Finnish socialist named Hiltunen, was held. Deputies profess to believe that he entered the copter country for the purpose of dynamiting mine property.

TWO MEN FINED FOR SALOON BRAWL

Frank Dickens and William Witt, the latter one of the proprietors of the Post saloon on South Third street, were this morning fined $12 and costs apiece by Judge Edward Cronan after pleading guilty to charges of fighting. The complainant was Theodore Krueger, who alleges that he was beaten by three men in the saloon. The third, Chas. Rittenhaus, pleaded not guilty and, owing to lack of evidence, was dismissed.

REFUSES PERMIT FOR A TANNERY

Frank Vasicek was refused a permit to establish a tannery at 119 South Front street at a special meeting of the La Crosse health board held in the offices of the health commission late yesterday afternoon.

It was maintained by the board that two of the city's dairy and food product plants are in the immediate vicinity and that it would be a continual nuisance.

Dr. Winfield Scott Hall, who will be in this city for two days, next Sunday and Monday, January 25 and 26, comes to conduct a campaign under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association in the interest of his special line of work.

Dr. Hall represents the American Medical association, of which he is an advertised public lecturer, and has been chairman of the section of physiology and pathology of the American Academy of Medicine, of which he has been a fellow for eighteen years, and of which he has been president; the National Education association, of which he has been a member for fifteen years; Northwestern University, an institution of 5,000 students. His more popular books are "From Youth to Manhood," "Sex Hygiene or the Physiology of Reproduction," "Father and Daughter," "Father and Son, Chums," and others.

Dr. Hall's lectures deal with the problems of social ethics, social hygiene, sex hygiene and eugenics. In his campaign here he will cover the field quite thoroughly. DENVER, Col., Jan. 20.—Beef is going down, Colonel Ike Pryor of San Antonio, told the annual convention of the American National Live-stock association today. "It works this way," said he. are also the ways of peace and are also the ways of success."

The Message

The president said: "Gentlemen of the Congress: 'In my report 'On the State of the Union,' which I had the privilege of reading to you on the second of December last, I ventured to reserve for discussion at a later date the subject of additional legislation regarding the very difficult and intricate matter of trusts and monopolies. The time now seems opportune to turn to that great question; not only because the current legislation, which absorbed your attention and the attention of the country in December, is now disposed of, but also because opinion seems to be clearing about it with singular rapidity in this other great field of action. In the matter of the currency, it cleared suddenly and very happily after the much debated act was passed; in respect of the monopolies which have multiplied about us, and in regard to the various means by which they have been organized and maintained, it seems to be coming to a clear and all but universal agreement in anticipation of our action, as if by way of preparation, making the way easier to see and easier to set out upon with confidence and without confusion of counsel."

"Legislation has its atmosphere like everything else, and the atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding which we now breathe with so much refreshment is a matter of sincere congratulation. It ought to make our task very much less difficult and embarrassing than it would have been had we been obliged to continue to act amidst the atmosphere of suspicion and antagonism which has so long made it impossible to approach such questions with dispassionate fairness. Constructive legislation, when successful, is always the embodiment of convincing experience and of the mature public opinion which really springs out of that experience. Legislation is a business of interpretation, not of originating; and it is now plain what the opinion is to which we must give effect in this matter. It is not recent or hasty opinion. It springs out of the experience of a whole generation. It has clarified itself by long contest, and those who for a long time battled with it and sought to change it are now frankly and honorably yielding to it and seeking to confirm their actions to it."

Business Men See Light

"The great business men who organized and financed monopoly and those who administered it in actual everyday transactions have, year after year, until now, either denied its existence or justified it as necessary for the effective maintenance and development of the vast business processes of the country in the modern circumstances of trade and manufacture and finance; but all the while opinion has made head against them. The average business man is convinced that the ways of liberty are the ways of peace and the ways of success as well, and at last the masters of business on the great scale have begun to yield their preference and purpose, perhaps their judgment, also, in honorable surrender. "What we are proposing to do, therefore, is happily not to hamper or interfere with business as enlightened business men prefer to do it, or in any sense to put it under the ban. The antagonism between business and government is over. We are now about to give expression to the best business judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the land. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law. The best informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly of business men everywhere goes with them. We shall now be their spokesmen. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done.

No Violent Disturbance

"When serious contest ends, when men unite in opinion and purpose, those who are to change their ways of business joining with those who ask for the change, it is possible to effect it in the way in which it is prudent and thoughtful and patriotic men would wish to see it brought about, with as few, as slight, as easy and simple business readjustments as possible in the circumstances, nothing essential disturbed, nothing torn up by the roots, no parts asunder which can be left in wholesome combination. Fortunately no measures of sweeping or novel change are necessary. It will be understood that our object is NOT to unsettle business or anywhere seriously to break its established courses athwart. On the contrary, we desire the laws we are now about to pass to be the bulwarks and safeguards of industry against the forces that have disturbed it. What we have to do, can be done in a new spirit, in thoughtful moderation, without revolution of any untoward kind.

"We are all agreed that 'private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable,' and our program is founded on that conviction. It will be a comprehensive but not a radical or unacceptable program and these are its items, the changes which opinion deliberately sanctions and for which business waits:

"It waits with acquiescence, in the first place for laws which will effectually prohibit and prevent such interlockings of the personnel of the directorates of great corporations—banks and railroads, industrial, commercial and public service bodies—as in effect result in making those who borrow and those who lend practically one and the same, those who sell and those who buy but the same persons trading with one another under different names and in different combinations, and those who affect to compete in fact partners and masters of some wholesome field of business. Sufficient time should be allowed, of course, in which to effect these changes of organization without inconvenience or confusion.

Will Bring New Spirit

"Such a prohibition will work

much more than a mere negative good by correcting the serious evils which have arisen because, for example, the men who have been directing spirits of the great investment banks, have usurped the place which belongs to independent industrial management working in its own behalf. It will bring new men, new energies, a new spirit of initiative, new blood into the management of our great business enterprises. It will open the field of industrial development and organization of scores of men who have been obliged to serve when their abilities entitled them to direct. It will immensely hearten the young men coming on and will greatly enrich the business activities of the whole country.

"In the second place, business men as well as those who direct public affairs now recognize, and recognize with painful clearness, the great harm and injustice which has been done to many, if not all, of the great railroad systems of the country by the way in which they have been financed and their own distinctive interests subordinated to the interests of the men who financed them and of other business enterprises which those men wished to promote. The country is ready, therefore, to accept, and accept with relief, as well as approval, a law which will confer upon the interstate commerce commission the power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which the railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development to meet the rapidly growing requirements of the country for increased and improved facilities of transportation. We cannot postpone action in this matter without leaving the railroads exposed to many serious handicaps and hazards; and the prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected. Upon this question those who are chiefly responsible for the actual management and operation of the railroads, have spoken very plainly and very earnestly, with a purpose we ought to be quick to accept. It will be one step, and a very important one, toward the necessary separation of business of production from the business of transportation.

"The business of the country awaits, also has long waited, and has suffered because it could not obtain further and more explicit legislative definition of the policy and meaning of the existing anti-trust law. Nothing hampers business to take chances, to run the risk of falling under the condemnation of the law before it can make sure just what the law is. Surely we are sufficiently familiar with the actual processes and methods of monopoly and of the many hurtful restraints of trade to make definition possible, at any rate up to the limits of what experience has disclosed. These practices, being now abundantly disclosed, can be explicitly and item by item forbidden by statute in such terms as will practically eliminate uncertainty, the law itself and the penalty being made equally plain.

For Trade Commission
"And the business men of the country desire something more than that the menace of legal process in these matters be made explicit and intelligible. They desire the advice, the definite guidance and information which can be supplied by an administrative body, an interstate trade commission.

"The opinion of the country would instantly approve of such a commission. It would not wish to see it empowered to make terms with monopoly, or, in any sort, to assume control of business, as if the government made itself responsible. It demands such a commission only as an indispensable instrument of information and publicity, as a clearing house for the facts by which both the public mind and the managers of great business undertakings should be guided, and as an instrumentality for doing justice to business where the processes of the courts or the natural forces of connection outside the courts are inadequate to adjust the remedy to the wrong in a way that will meet all the equities and circumstances of the case.

"Producing industries, for example, which have passed the point up to which combination may be consistent with the public interest and the freedom of trade, cannot always be dissected into their component units as readily as railroad companies or similar organizations can be. Their dissolution by ordinary legal process may often times involve financial consequences likely to overwhelm the security market and bring upon it a breakdown and confusion. There ought to be an administrative commission capable of directing and shaping such corrective processes, not only in aid of the courts, but also by independent suggestion, if necessary.

"Inasmuch as our object and the spirit of our action in these matters is to meet business half way in its processes of self correction and disturb its legitimate course as little as possible, we ought to see to it, and the judgment of the practical and sagacious men of affairs everywhere would applaud us if we did see to it, that penalties and punishments should fall, not upon business itself, to its confusion and interruption, but upon individuals who use the instrumentalities of business to do things which public policy and sound business practice condemn. Every act of business is done at the command or upon the initiative of some ascertainable person or group of persons. These should be held individually responsible and the punishment should fall upon them, not upon the business organization of which they make illegal use.

For Personal Responsibility

"It should be one of the main objects of our legislation to divest such persons of their corporate cloak and deal with them as with those who do not represent their corporations, but merely by deliberate intention, break the law. Business men the country through, would, I am sure, applaud us if we were to take effectual steps to see that the officers and directors of great business bodies were prevented from bringing them and the business of the country into disrepute and danger.

"Other questions remain which will need much thoughtful and practical treatment. Enterprises, in these modern days of great individual fortunes are oftentimes interlocked, not by being under the control of the same directors, but by the fact that the greater part of their corporate stock is owned by a single person or groups of persons who are in some way intimately related in interest. We are agreed, I take it, that holding companies should be prohibited, but what of the controlling private ownership of individuals or actually co-operative groups of individuals. Shall the private owners of capital stock be suffered to be themselves in effect holding companies? We do not, I suppose, wish to forbid the purchase of stocks by any person who pleases to buy them in such quantities as he can afford, or in any way arbitrarily to limit the sale of stocks to bona fide purchasers. Shall we require the owners of stock, when their voting power in several companies which ought to be independent of one another, would constitute actual control, to make election in which of them they will exercise their right to vote? This question I venture for your consideration.

"There is another matter in which imperative considerations of justice and fair play suggest thoughtful remedial action. Not only do many of the combinations affected or sought to be affected in the industrial world work an injustice upon the public in general; they also directly and seriously injure the individuals who are put out of business in one unfair way or another by the many dislodging and exterminating forces of combination. I hope that we shall agree in giving private individuals who claim to have been injured by these processes the right to found their suits for redress upon facts and judgment has upon its own initiative, sued the combinations complained of and won its suit, and that the statute of limitations shall be suffered to run against such litigants only from the date of the conclusion of the government's action.

Should Use Facts

"It is not fair that the private litigants should be obliged to set up and establish again the facts which the government has proved. He cannot afford, he has not the power, to make us of such processes of inquiry as the government has command of. Thus shall individual justice be done while the processes of business are rectified and squared with the general conscience.

"I have laid the case before you, no doubt as it lies in your own mind, as it lies in the thought of the country. What must every candid man say of the suggestions I have laid before you, of the plain obligations of which I have reminded you? That these are new things for which the country is not prepared? No; but that they are old things, now familiar, and must of course be undertaken if we are to square our laws with the thoughts and desire of the country. Until these things are done, conscientious business men the country over will be unsatisfied. They are in these things our mentors and colleagues. We are now about to write the additional articles of our constitution of peace, the peace that is honor and freedom and prosperity."

Feel Out of Sorts?

It's a good idea to look for the cause!

One common, but often unsuspected cause is coffee-drinking. Yet some persons seem able to get along with coffee—at least for a time. But when headachy, bilious days come; breakfast or some other meal doesn't taste good; and the day's work goes wrong. (Ever feel that way?)—then it's time to find out for sure if coffee is causing the trouble in your case.

There's a subtle, poisonous drug, "caffeine," in coffee that interferes with the normal functions of body, brain and nerves, and has a lot to do with one's comfort and progress.

Suppose for a test you try the simple expedient of quitting coffee and using well-made

—a pure food-drink made of choice wheat. It has a delightful, Java-like flavour, but is absolutely free from caffeine or any other drug.

After ten days or two weeks you will be able to decide whether to go back to coffee troubles, or stick to Postum and peace and comfort.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water and adding cream and sugar to taste.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

FEDERAL LEAGUE MAKES PROGRESS

Signs Thirty-three of Major League Players and Makes Fine General Showing

(By Hal Sheridan, written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—A total of thirty-three major league players signed, the out-jockeying of the "organized" baseball magnates in a race for a strip of Chicago land which is badly needed for the Chicago park, several hundred yards of publicity, and general upsetting of the peace of mind of several National league team owners are the accomplishments claimed today by the backers of the Federal league. Eight players have been signed since Saturday when the league was supposed to be on the verge of going up on the rocks and giving up the ghost, according to announcements from Chicago.

Tried to Block Deal

Possibly it indicates real desperation when magnates such as Garry Herrmann and others try to buy a strip of dry land sixteen feet wide, but according to the Federals they tried to do this very thing in hopes of blocking the scheme of President Weegman of the Chicago team for the erection of a ball park. Weegman needed this land. He claims the plotters were foiled and he got it.

Much conferring was in progress yesterday. Umpire Bill Brennan has signed a three year contract, it was announced. Russell Ford, Yankee pitcher, is also said to have signed up as well as Kirkpatrick, of Brooklyn. Ed Sweeney, Yankee catcher, and Howard Camnitz, former Pirate, but now on the Phillies' pitching staff, also had their ears turned to listen to inducements, but announcement of their having signed is yet to come.

Arthur Fletcher, shortstop of the Giants, has renewed his contract with the New York team. The Federals approached Fletcher, but he failed to fall. Herrmann also signed a Cub contract, said to be for $7,000 a year for three years. Thomas Clark, Cincinnati catcher, is said to have been offered a $6,000 contract with the Federals.

Poor John

We will not get to hear all about Johnny Kling's billiard parlor in Kansas City this spring. Kling was given his unconditional release by Cincinnati and promptly announced that he was through with baseball. He will, therefore, not have occasion to hold out and relate in detail how much money he makes in Kansas City.

Carpentier Licks Irishman

Georges Carpentier, French heavyweight, is still knocking 'em cold. He put out Pat O'Keefe of Ireland last night in two rounds at Nice. Kid McCoy, the real Norman Selby, challenged Carpentier and will be taken on.

Hunch For Feds

Here's a hunch for the Federals: Why not announce that Fielder Jones is going to manage Toronto. It would take four days and four nights for the Portland correspondent to explain Fielder's lumber business and explain why he couldn't leave it.

NELSON A HERO AMONG FRIENDS

"Wyeville Woodchopper" Conceded by Them to Be Corner in the Fighting World

ALL READY FOR BIG CONTEST

Athletic Club's Event Friday to Draw Crowds from All Sections of the State

There is an old saying that a man is never a hero to his friends or in his home town but this cannot be applied to Art Nelson who meets Spike Hennessey of Chicago before the La Crosse Athletic club Friday night, for down in Sparta Nelson is looked up to by old and young alike and is one of the most popular citizens of that thriving city.

He is described by those who have known him since he was in kilts as a modest, retiring youth with the ability to accomplish most anything he starts after and as he has said that it is the ambition of his life to give Hennessey a trouncing he will remember for a long time, his town folks believe he will do it and hundreds of them will be at the ringside. One Spartan sent in an order yesterday for a block of forty seats. That's an evidence of the support Nelson is getting.

No fighter ever trained harder or more faithfully for a battle than has Art for his little argument with Spike. He was not content with training conditions in Sparta so he went to Milwaukee where he has been working out at Larkin's gymnasium. Every day for the past two weeks he has put in eight to ten miles on the road and has done from four to ten rounds of boxing against men of his weight and of equal cleverness.

Those who have watched him work declare that he has developed a punch that his most ardent admirer would not believe he possessed and has improved his defensive work so greatly that it will surprise the fans when they see him in the ring. Taking this together with an unshaken determination to win, it looks as though Hennessey will have his hands full when he enters the ring.

On the other hand word comes from La Salle where Hennessey is training with several of Billy Papke's old sparring partners that the Illinois boy was never in better shape and that Nelson will never be able to stay ten rounds with him. Spike has been in training for a couple of months and has had two fights during that time, both of which he won. He spends most of his time boxing and is showing great form.

This bout on paper looks to be about the best that has yet been arranged by the local club. With both boys in the best possible condition, fighting to win every minute—and they will for a victory will put the winner up among the top notchers—it will be a battle royal.

When Nelson and Hennessey get together it will not be a case of two fighters with big reputations "stalling" through every round but a real fight from start to finish.

Joe Bishop of Milwaukee, who is declared by Charley Lavine, to be a pocket edition of Jimmy Clabby, the Hammond cyclone, is a class boxer with plenty of steam and is one of the fastest boys on his feet in the ring, but Billy DeFoe, who meets him Friday, is in the same class and some mighty clever work will be seen. This fight will not go six rounds. Put a mark here.

To satisfy the demands of the fans, Joe Welling is being brought back and will meet Jack Williams. By his manliness and hard and clean work on New Year's day, Welling won a warm place in the hearts of lovers of boxing here and his friends will surely be at the ringside to greet him.

Arrangements have been made by the club to secure the returns of the Wolfast-Rivers bout in Milwaukee if the fight is put on before the bouts here are over.

The cheerful tone was attributed to President Wilson's optimistic statement on the business outlook, in which he said the tariff was helping business throughout the United States.

Current Talk

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Charley Cutler will be matched to meet Gustav Frisensky, the Bohemian wrestler, as the result of his victory over William Hokutt, another Bohemian grappler, last night.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Jan. 20.—Announcement that Notre Dame will meet Yale at New Haven on October 17 gives the Catholics probably the liveliest football schedule in many years. West Point, Syracuse and Carlisle are other eastern eleven Notre Dame will oppose this fall.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—"I will trim Jess Willard again on July 4 and then push things along for a bout with Jack Johnson," said Gunboat Smith today, when he learned that negotiations for the Willard match had been closed.

TEMPTATION.

Cultivate the moral strength to resist temptation. You can do it if you will. In itself a temptation is neither strong nor weak. An opportunity to steal a million would not affect some men and women in the least. To others it would be irresistible, because their hearts are aching with desire for wealth. We cannot blame our temptations for our sins. That is neither fair nor just. We must look deeper and own that we alone are accountable for the wrongdoing.

Even an arrant coward is bold enough to brag of the virtue into which he is scared.
A wise widow may pose as a man hater for a purpose.

TO GET NOTICE OF CONTRACT BY CABLE

Herman Schaefer.

Herman Schaefer, the comedian of the Washington Senators, will in all probability be the only major league ball player who will get notice of his contract for next season by cable. Manager Griffith has sent a cablegram to Schaefer at Colombo, Ceylon, where the baseball tourists will make their next stop, asking him to acknowledge receipt of terms. Schaefer will not receive this notice until January 23.

O'NEIL LASTS QUICK

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 20.—A deep cash over his eye afforded Tim O'Neil of Chicago painful memories today of his short bout last night with George Chip, claimant to the middleweight title. O'Neil went down under a terrific upper cut at the close of the first round. The fight was stopped early in the second.

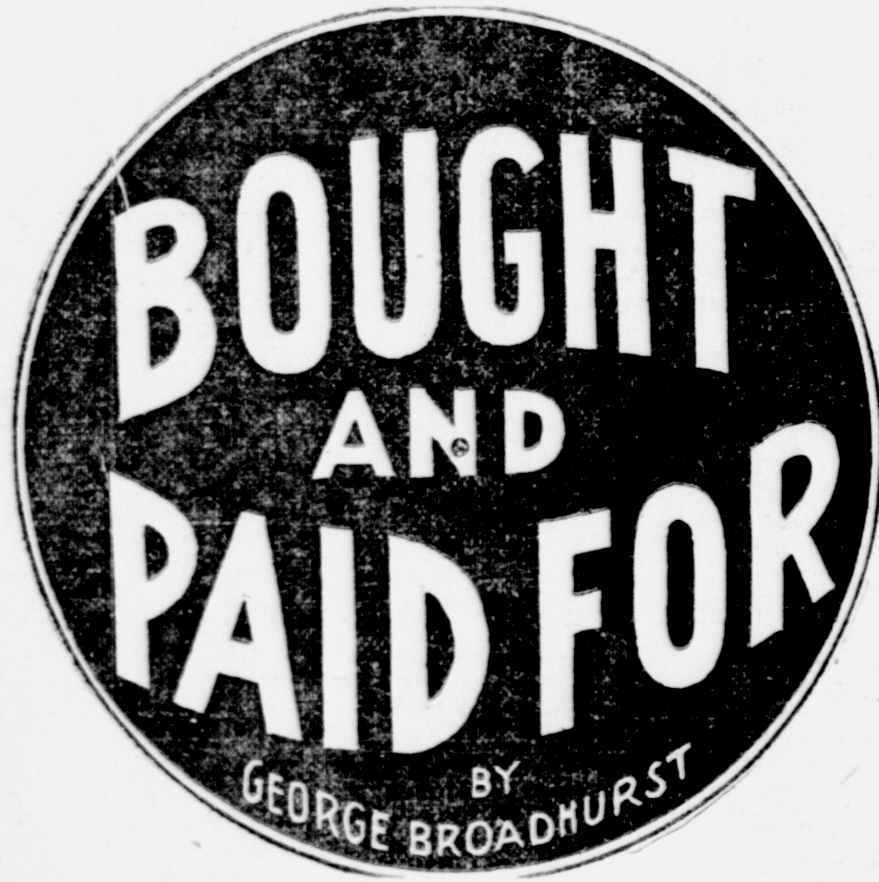

PIRATE BOSS RELIEVED

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 20.—Only about ten of the irate regulars were yet to be signed today and it was believed by the management that possibility of the Federals making any heavy inroads has been eliminated.

Perils of Pearl Diving.

Though diving bells were taken to Ceylon in 1825 for use in the pearl fishery, neither they nor the European diving dress can compete with the naked native. Arab divers use a sort of horn clip with which to close their nostrils when under water, but the Ceylon diver holds his nostrils with his hand only until such time as he reaches the sea bottom. The average time that a Tamil remains below is between fifty and sixty seconds, while an Arab remains under water between eighty and ninety seconds. Occasionally men, either from greed or over-estimation of their strength, collapse at the bottom and are brought up dead.

FOR SCHOOL EFFICIENCY

CARY SENDS ADVANCE DOPE TO SCHOOL HEADS ON REQUIRE-MENTS FOR FIRST CLASS
INSTITUTION

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 20.—"A good school should show good housekeeping. Are the janitor, the principal and the teachers good housekeepers? If not, who is at fault?"

"Do not mistake football enthusiasm or undue expenditure of energy and time in social affairs for good spirit."

"What is the nature of the habits
pupils are forming in this school?
Are they such as will be of great service in life or are they going to be detrimental? Are they forming habits and ideals of doing well whatever they undertake? Are they forming the habit of self-control, of courtesy, of system, of attending to their own business all the while?"

To learn just how far Wisconsin
school authorities are inculcating efficiency methods in the curricula,
State Superintendent C. P. Cary is sending a circular letter, written to state inspectors of schools, to principals and teachers to indicate the principal lines of investigation that inspectors will follow in their visits.
The foregoing are some of the suggestions offered by the state superintendent.

Necessity a Stern Driver.

There is no stimulus to tumultuous action like strong human desire. Necessity, too, drives men on relentlessly; but desire, which amounts to a passion, drives faster and harder and more intensely. It has been exceptional stimulus that has produced the marvels of the hour. It is exceptional and self-generated stimulus that men need in this day and hour to keep up with the demands of the time.

AUTO BREAKS ICE TWO NEAR DEATH

MARINETTE, Wis., Jan. 20.—A.
H. Bouchard and his niece of Big Suamico, had a narrow escape yesterday in a peculiar accident. Mr.
Bouchard drove out on the ice in his automobile. The ice gave way and the machine went down. Fishermen nearly saved both. The machine was raised.

D. & H. STRIKE IS WON BY MEN

Road Reinstates Discharged
Employees and 5,000
Men Go Back to Work

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—After being completely paralyzed for twenty-four hours, traffic on all divisions
of the Delaware & Hudson railroad was resumed today, following the settlement of the strike of 5,000 engineers, firemen, conductors, train-men, telegraphers, towermen and yardmen.

The settlement was a sweeping victory for the employees as the company
agreed to reinstate two discharged employees—Conductor F. A. Slade and Engineer James A. Lynch, whose removal from the Albany & Susquehanna division was the cause of the walkout.

George W. W. Hanger, assistant commissioner and secretary of the federal board of mediation and conciliation, was active in securing the quick settlement of the strike.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—While the Delaware & Hudson strike is settled, the disputes are by no means adjusted, Martin C. Carey, leader of the 5,000 employees said today. The chief difficulty he declared, was the adjustment of pay for the two reinstated employees. Carey is fighting for full pay for the men.

Spiritual Magnetism.

If the world gets from you today
the best you have to give you may rest assured it will pay you back in your own coin tomorrow, and with interest.

On the other hand, if you seek revenge
the same law holds good, for in "taking revenge" you are but even with your enemy, but in passing over an injury you are superior. Such thoughts as "getting even" if cherished, swell
and overflow the entire being, leaving in their wake a psychic malaria. He who never forgets a friend and always forgives a foe is making no mistake.
That is the way the soul grows. That is the way to cultivate personal magnetism—spiritual.—Edward B. War-

STENO BENEFITS BY $14,000,000 KICK

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Miss Isabella Sweeney, Portland hotel stenographer, is today Mrs. Jacob Goetz and beneficiary of a $14,000,000 kick by an Oregon mule. She was married here to Jacob Goetz, multi-millionaire hotel owner and miner of Spokane. Goetz relates that the mule of a prospecting party which he had
grub-staked, located a $14,000,000
mine for him by missing one of the miners and striking a mountain which covered a rich vein.

Diversified Agriculture.

The value of Hungary's agricultural returns does not depend upon several large crops or on the products of certain specified branches of agriculture, but rather on the great diversity of its products, for there is probably no country in Europe in which so many branches of agriculture are carried on.

WOMAN, STABBED, CATCHES THE MAN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 20.—
With blood flowing from a long cut in her neck, Josephine Pride, alias Cleopatra, colored, pursued William Robinson, a negro, from 694
East Water street, to the Cherry street bridge, where she captured
him and turned him over to a policeman. She alleges that he cut her with a razor.

The woman was taken to Emergency hospital. She will recover. A year ago the Pride woman was shot in the neck by her Italian sweetheart. When she recovered she refused to testify against him.

Explaining Moss.

"Now, Thomas," said the teacher to a small pupil in the primary class,
"can you tell me what moss is?"
"Yes, ma'am," replied the little fellow; "it's something that a rolling stone does not gather."

Watch Carefully the Child's Diet

Start Them Off Right With a Good
Laxative and Then Watch
Their Food

Mother's are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods
do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately
be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers, is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated
child that care is necessary. Colds, piles, headache, sleeplessness and many other annoyances that children
should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin
because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands endorse it, among them Mrs. M. E.
Patten, Valley Junction, Iowa, who is never without it in the house. Mrs.

RALPH M. PATTEN

Patten says that Syrup Pepsin has done wonders for her boy Ralph,
who was constipated from birth but is now doing fine. Naturally she is enthusiastic about it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle,
the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionately more.
Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-gripping and free
from injurious ingredients.
Families wishing to try a free
sample bottle can obtain it postpaid
by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.
A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Stops Nasty Discharge, Clears Stuffed

stopped-up air passages of the head
will open; you will breathe freely;
dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.
End such misery now! Get the

at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals

the inflamed, swollen membrane
which lines the nose, head and cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing.
Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in
"Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold
or catarrh will surely disappear.
